

JASPER DEFEATED BY KARL HERZ

Bout Stopped in the Twelfth Round When Boston Favorite Appeared to be Nearing End.—Ted Murphy Given Decision Over Grim.

Young Jasper of Boston was defeated decisively on Thursday evening by Carl Herz a clever fighter of Washington. Herz had the better of the fighting all of the way in the twelve round feature bout at the Rockingham A. C. He not only outpointed Jasper but outboxed him and in the twelfth round Herz stopped the bout to save Jasper from further punishment as he was all in and being hit at will by the sturdy colored boxer who finished fresh and looked fit to do the same distance over again.

Young Jasper's work was a disappointment to the local fans with whom he is a great favorite. He appears to have slowed down during the past year and he also lacks the punch of old. In Herz, however, he met his match and it is very doubtful, even in his best days could get a decision over Herz.

The colored man is a willing two-handed fighter who has had lots of experience and knows the game from all angles. He is very fast, his footwork being especially good and he has the punch and also the ability to stand punishment. He met Jasper at his own game of in-fighting and here as in every department outpointed him. After the opening round it was apparent that Herz was a real fighter and after the third round it was just a question to many whether Jasper would go the full distance. In the seventh round Herz had him almost on their street. Jasper came back fairly strong and at times showed a flash of his old form, but when he did land it did not appear to bother Herz to any great extent, who at no time was in distress.

It is the opinion of the fight fans that it will take a good man to make the colored man take the count.

The Fight.

1st round. Both men rushed to the center of the ring and shook hands. Jasper did the leading. In this round, holding Herz off with his straightened left and putting several left rights to the face and body. As Herz started a rush he was met with the straight left and a hot right crashed into his ribs. Jasper followed up his own leads, driving the smoke away from him and forcing him into clinches. Herz failed to land a blow that counted for anything in this round although he showed some clever boxing.

3d round. Herz landed a couple of lefts. Jasper countered with a right and left to the body. Herz swung a wild left which Jasper ducked, held him off with his left and put two hard right jolts into Herz's ribs. Herz jumped back from a left swing which Jasper followed with a right and left both of which landed. He missed a right lead with his left and missed again. The round ended with both men in the center of the ring exchanging body blows.

4th round. Jasper still leading at opening of the round and putting speed into his punches, landed two to the ribs. Herz landed two light body blows receiving nothing in return. Jasper appeared to be taking several wallop, looking for an opening. Jasper landed one on the stomach and missed two as they went into a clinch. Herz appeared to realize the danger connected with the close fighting and stayed away from his man, keeping Jasper off with light raps to his face. Herz shaded Jasper on points in this round.

5th round. Jasper met Herz as he came from his corner, going more than half the distance. He planted one hard right and missed another to the body. Jasper spent all of this round in an attempt to get in close with Herz staying away and boxing. A couple to Jasper's face started the blood from a split lip which didn't properly heal from his last fight. Jasper came back strong after losing for half a minute. The round ended about even.

6th round. Jasper opened fast, as though he had his man sized up and landed putting him away. He succeeded in forcing Herz to break ground and followed his leads. Herz appearing somewhat tired and slowing up in his action. What few he landed had no real steam. Jasper's round.

7th round. In this round both men did considerable clinching. Jasper put three in succession to the body and took one on the mouth which started the blood flowing again. Herz drove Jasper almost through the ropes with a stinging right to the jaw. As he attempted to follow it up he was met by hard right and lefts on the face and body which chased him back to his corner. At the going Herz landed a right and left to the face that slowed up the attack. Herz's round.

8th round. Herz did the leading in this round, opening up with light raps to the face and preventing Jasper from getting into close quarters. He was hitting Jasper in the face at will and in return took two hard blows to the body. Jasper evidently realized that his opportunity of winning was gone as far as the boxing was concerned and was playing for an opening to slip. A sleep-maker over. The bell came before he had but one opportunity which he failed to see.

9th round. Both men took things

Detroit, Jan. 21.—Harry Tuthill, is understood that the West Point football club since 1908 and for the past four years trainer of the army football squad, recently signed a contract to condition the University of Michigan football team next season. It was in this season. Jasper continued his waiting policy, and Herz contented himself with rapping rights and lefts onto Jasper's face and nose.

10th round. Herz demonstrated that he was a two-sided fighter. In this round and put much more steam into his action than at any time during the fight. Jasper took a severe beating all through this round, waiting for his chance. Herz prevented the chance by keeping Jasper away and smashing him with both fists. He was landing at will and where he wanted to with Jasper doing little to prevent.

11th round. As the men stepped into the center of the ring the majority of the fans realized that their favorite was on the losing end unless he came across with a hay maker. Herz never gave him a chance and finally forced him into a clinch after hitting him a dozen or more times. Jasper didn't land anything which could be counted and stuck to his waiting tactics. The round belonged to Herz without a question.

12th round. After a moment's boxing Jasper dropped his arms and allowed Herz to come to close quarters. Herz, with one arm over Jasper's shoulder, was cutting his right into the ribs of the Boston man as often as he wanted. Jasper was in sore distress and being hit at will when the referee called the fight off.

Ted Murphy Wins from Grim

In the semi final Teddy Murphy of South Boston was given the decision over Young Joe Grim of Boston in their eight round bout. For three rounds things looked even, neither man doing any real work. Word came from the manager of the club to the referee to force the men into some semblance of action and from then until the end of the mill both fighters played a little harder.

Murphy did all of the leading and appeared to be a pretty clever boy, especially in getting in, landing two to the face and getting away again with nothing in return. The first three rounds were even. Murphy was superior in the fourth, fifth, sixth and eighth, the seventh being even. In the preliminary, Kid Donahue outpointed Young Burns, both lads coming from Dover. Donahue weighed 102 pounds while Burns was 24 pounds heavier. The bout went four rounds with all the leading being done by the lighter man, who landed any number of wallops on his opponent.

Before the evening's entertainment started Mike Glover, the New England welter-weight champion, was introduced. He received a great ovation and was handed another when it was announced that he was to referee the first two bouts. He was "there," and the fighters followed his instruction, breaking at the word and breaking clean. In all of the bouts of the evening the men fought in as clean a manner as any which have been staged here. All of the bouts were fast and the fans are satisfied that the management of the club is trying to give them a real show. The only disappointment was in Jasper's losing out, although it is admitted by all that the decision was earned.

Nashua, N. H., Jan. 20.—Two more members of the reserve police force resigned today. They are Grove Nichols and Hugh E. Alexander, who were appointed when the reserve force was constituted to replace the militia guarding the mills on account of the textile strike.

City Marshal Daniel F. Healey tonight declined to discuss the reasons for the resignations.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look years younger! Use Grandmother's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and abundant.

KITTERY POINT

A number from this part of the town attended the funeral services of the late George Terry which were held from the Methodist church, Kittery, on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Mabel Vemel has returned to her home in York Harbor after passing a few days with Mrs. Edith Seaward.

Mrs. Sherman Mitchell of Portsmouth passed Thursday with her parents in town.

Miss Mildred Sawyer is restricted to her home with the grippe.

Little Miss Dorothy Thew returned to the home of her parents on Thursday after passing several weeks with her grandparents in Portsmouth.

The garage owned by Rear Admiral M. Doyle at Grand Island, which was badly damaged by the recent heavy storm is being repaired.

George Terry arrived home on Thursday afternoon after being called out of town by the illness and death of his father.

Wills G. Moulton of York was a visitor in town on Thursday.

Harry Seaward arrived home from New York on Thursday, sick with the grippe.

Mrs. LeRoy Biddle and Mrs. Ralph Seaward recently visited Mrs. Claude Colby of North Kittery.

Freeman Lewis is enjoying a vacation from his duties at the navy yard. Mrs. Nelson Moulton was the guest of Mrs. Morton Seaward on Thursday.

Curtis Chapp of Boston was a visitor in town on business today.

Rev. B. C. Furman gave a Bible study talk to the ladies this afternoon at the vestry of the First Baptist church on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 he will hold a meeting for the children.

Be sure and hear Evans' last sermon tonight on "Remembrance of Old New York." Sunday will be his last appearance here.

A person in a position to know, states that not for years has the sea being out in this action been so clear and of as fine a quality as the present season. With the price of everything soaring, this is something to be really thankful for.

United States Tread 'Usco' Tires

Why 'Usco'—

Make something wonderfully good and you say, "This is mine,"—you call it by your name.

That is exactly our case.

We have made a tire so fine, so sturdy, so responsible that we want it known as ours. So we named it 'Usco' (U. S. Co.).

Because we have put our name on this tire—because its success was a matter of business pride, of business honour—we pledged ourselves to see that it "made good"—and it has.

Think of it—a really wonderful new anti-skid tire priced at only a little more than plain treads.

OVER TWO THOUSAND AMERICANS MURDERED

Col. Roosevelt in Letter to National Security League Gives Figures of Non-Combatants Murdered by Mexicans and Austro-Germans Since Last March

In a letter to the National Security League, Congress now in session at Washington, Col. Theodore Roosevelt makes a strong appeal for a bigger and stronger army and navy. He states that they are needed in order to compel the fighting nations on both sides of the Atlantic to respect the lives of the citizens of this country. In his letter he states that there have been between 2000 and 2100 men, women and children of this nation murdered by soldiers and sailors on the fighting nations since last March, more than were killed by the fighting during the Spanish-American war in 1898. His letter follows:

Gentlemen:

I wish it were possible for me to be present to speak at your meeting. As that is not possible I send you this line of hearty greetings and good will.

It seems to me there are two matters which every good American citizen should now get clearly before his mind as regards national defense.

The first of these matters is not to mistake names for facts. Peace is not a question of names. It is a question of facts. If murders occur in a city, and if the police force is so incompetent that no record is made of them officially, that does not interfere with the fact that the murders have been committed and that life is unsafe. In just the same way, if lives are taken by violence between nations, it is not of the slightest consequence whether those responsible for the government of the nation whose citizens have lost their lives or who did not assert that the nation is at peace. During the last three years we have been technically at peace. But during those three years more of our citizens have been killed by Mexicans, Germans, Austrians and Hungarians than were killed during the entire Spanish war. It is true that the American citizens killed during the past three years have been mostly non-combatants, including women and children, although many men wearing the national uniform have also been killed. Some of them on American soil. But the fact that women and children are killed instead of full-grown men in uniform surely increases instead of diminishes the horror. We have had a great many citizens killed during the time of alleged peace, and thanks to the activities of the emissaries of foreign governments with the torch and the bomb on our own soil, we have had much more American property destroyed than was the case during the open war with Spain; and whereas no benefit whatever has come from the loss of life and destruction of property during the last three years the short war with Spain brought incalculable benefits to Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines, not to speak of ourselves. On February 12th it will be a year since the time when we notified Germany that in case any of our citizens were killed, we would hold her to a strict accountability; and during these eleven months the passenger ships sunk by Germany or Austria in defiance of our warning have included among others the Falaba, Lusitania, Arabic, Ilesperian, Ancona, Ysern, Ville de la Clotat and Persian. They were British, Italian, Japanese and French. Many hundreds of Americans were among the passengers, and a couple of hundred of these including many women and children, were killed. The total deaths on these ships since March last amount to between 2,000 and 2,100. The campaign against them has been a campaign of sheer murder, on a vaster scale than any indulged in in a like time by any of the old-time Pirates of the Indian Ocean and the Spanish Main. Now, the total number of lives of non-combatants, including many hundreds of women and children, thus taken, exceeds many times over the aggregate in all the sea fights of the war of 1812, both on the American and on the British side. It is over double the number of lives lost by the British sailors in Nelson's three great victories at the Battle of Trafalgar, at the Battle of the Nile and the Battle of the Baltic combined. It much exceeds the total number of lives lost in the Union navy—and indeed in the Union and Confederate navies combined—during the Civil war. That is, this nation has been "peaceful" during the past year, while peaceful ships, on which its citizens were sailing lost a larger number of lives than we lost at sea in the entire war of 1812 and than we inflicted at sea in the War of 1812. A much greater loss than Pizarro's fleet suffered in the aggregate in all its victories, a greater loss than Nelson's fleet suffered in his three great victories. If any individual finds satisfaction in saying that nevertheless this was "peace" and not "war", it is hardly worth while arguing with him; for he dwells in a land of sham and make-believe. Of course, incidentally, we have earned contempt and derision by our conduct in connection with the hundreds of Americans thus killed in time of peace without action on our part. The United States Senator or Governor of a state or other public representative, who takes the position, that our citizens should not, in accordance with their lawful rights, travel on such ships and that we need not take action about their deaths, occupies a position precisely and exactly as base and as cowardly (and I use these words with scientific precision) as if his wife's face was slapped on the public streets and the only action he took was to tell her to stay in the house.

Every man who is both intelligent and patriotic must therefore advocate preparedness, thorough-going and adequate, and therefore the willingness to incur the necessary expense for financing preparedness.

Nearly eighteen months have gone by since with the outbreak of this war, it became evident to every man willing to face the facts, that military and naval problems and international problems of every kind were infinitely more serious than we had had reason to believe, that treaties were absolutely worthless to protect any nation unless backed by armed force, and that the need of preparedness was infinitely more urgent than any man in this country had up to that time believed. The belief that public opinion or international public opinion unbacked by force, had the slightest effect in restraining a powerful military nation in any course of action it chose to undertake was shown to be a pathetic fallacy. But any man who still publicly adheres to and defends that opinion at the present time is engaged in propagation not a pathetic, but an absolutely mischievous and unpatriotic fallacy. It is the simple and literal truth that public opinion during the last eighteen months has not had the very smallest effect in mitigating any atrocities or preventing any wrong-doing by aggressive military powers, save to the exact degree that there was behind the public opinion actual strength which would be used if the provocation was sufficiently great. Public opinion has been absolutely useless as regards Belgium, as regards Armenia, as regards Poland. No man can assert the contrary with sincerity if he takes the trouble to examine the facts.

It remains therefore for us to prepare in adequate fashion. I comment to you very strongly the speeches and statements of Congressman Augustus P. Gardner on this subject.

For eighteen months, with this world-cyclone before our eyes, we as a nation, have sat supine without preparing in any shape or way. It is an actual fact that there has not been one soldier, one file, one gun, one boat added to the American Army or Navy, so far, because of anything that has occurred in this war, and not the slightest step has yet been taken looking toward the necessary preparedness. Such national shortsightedness, such national folly, is almost inconceivable. We have had ample warning to organize a scheme of defense. We have absolutely disregarded the warning and the pictures so far officially advocated are at best measures of half-preparedness, and as regards the larger aspect of the question, are not even that.

We should consider our national military policy as a whole. We must prepare a well thought out strategic scheme, planned from the standpoint of our lasting national interests, and steadily pursued by preparation and the study of experts, through a course of years. The navy is our first line of defense, but it must be remembered that it can be used wisely for defense only as an offensive arm. Parrying is never successful from the standpoint of defense. The attack is the proper method of efficient defense. For some years we have been using the navy internationally as a bluff defensive force, or rather asserting that it would be so used and could be so used. Its real value is as an offensive force in the interest of any war undertaken for our own defense. Freedom of action by the fleet is the secret of real naval power. This cannot be attained until we have at our disposal an effective military establishment which would enable us when threatened to repel any force disembarking on our coast. This is fundamental. It is only by creating a sufficient army that we can employ our fleet on its legitimate functions. The schemes of the Navy must always be correlated with the plans of the Army, and both of them with the plans of the State Department, which should never under any circumstances undertake any scheme of foreign policy without considering what our military situation is and may be made for reasons I have given elsewhere I believe that we should base our military and naval program upon the retention and defense of Alaska, Hawaii, the Panama Canal and all its approaches including all the points of South American soil north of the Equator, and of course, including the defense of our own coasts and the islands of the West Indies. To free the Navy we need ample coast defenses manned by a hundred thousand men, and a mobile regular army of one hundred and fifty thousand men. As regards the Navy, I call your attention to the fact that the statement in the President's Message as to what the present naval program will produce is not "borne out" by the statements of the General Board of the Navy. For example, the President says that when this program is finished we will have twenty-five effective battleships for the second line of defense. The General Board, on the contrary, shows that we will have but thirteen and that the other twelve are fit only for harbor defense or as a third line. In other words, they are not efficient second-line ships. They are not second-line ships at all. The proposed program is a paper program. It is entirely inadequate to our needs. It is a proposal not to do something effective immediately, but to do something entirely ineffective immediately and to trust that the lack will be made good in succeeding years. Congress has never been willing to carry out the plans advocated by the General Board. Until 1911, however, the difference between what was needed and what was actually appropriated for, although real, was not appallingly great. At the very time, however, when the extraordinary developments of navies abroad rendered it imperative that we should enlarge our own program and treat it far more seriously than ever before, Congress stopped entirely the proper upbuilding of the Navy. At present what is needed is immediately to strain every nerve of the government so that this year we will begin work on half-a-dozen formidable fighting battleships and formidable speedy armed cruisers. Frederick Palmer has recently showed that in the three squadron actions of this war the beaten side has behaved with the same skill and prowess shown by the victors but has been beaten purely because of the superiority of its opponent in the speed of the ships and in the range and power of the guns. He has furthermore shown that in these three squadron actions the defeated ships were in each case superior to any of our cruisers in speed and range and power of guns. In other words, our cruisers would be helpless against those of a first-rate power at the present time.

We need the best types of sea-going submarines. We need an immense development of the Aviation Corps. I wonder how many of our people understand that at this time the total strength of the officers and men in the French Aviation Corps surpasses in number the total strength of the officers and enlisted men in the United States Army.

But taking the simplest case of the Regular Army and the Regular Navy is not enough. A democracy should do its own fighting. I believe in universal service on the Swiss and Australian models, adapted to our own needs; that is, to military training in the schools after the age of sixteen and, too, for six months service with the colors in the field for every man between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one. With a small regular army of a quarter of a million men—a force which relatively to the nation bears the same proportion that the police force of New York City bears to the population of New York City—we would be given the time to develop from our citizens, if they had universal military training, an efficient army adequate to our needs. Military service should no more be optional in a democracy than should the payment of taxes. One should be accepted as an obligation just as much as the other. The proposed Continental Army is a sham. It would be merely an inefficient rival of the National Guard. For a year or so, during the period of novelty it might attract some men. But we cannot expect men to sacrifice their business interests and put themselves at a disadvantage compared to their less patriotic business rivals as a permanent thing. They ought not to do it; and it is an outrage to ask them to do it. Military training should be required as a

SPEAKERS IN REICHSTAG DENOUNCE GOVERNMENTAL POLICY OF CONCEALING EMPIRE'S MISFORTUNES

London, Jan. 20.—The debate at the closing session of the German Reichstag Tuesday was notable for the extreme outspoken criticism of the censorship, especially as it is applied to the Socialist newspapers as well as to general news concerning the war situation. According to the report of the Cologne Gazette, the Socialist member, Wilhelm Dittmann, bitterly complained that this censorship was political and not military, and charged that the Prussian Government was making careful preparations that the elections should turn in their favor.

"We must," said Herr Dittmann "destroy this pernicious mania, which only regards voices claiming conquest as the expression of the will of the people. The people are against a policy which orles for conquest."

Herr Fischbeck, Progressive, and Dr. Stresemann, National Liberal, also strongly denounced censorship and demanded the relaxation of the continuous state of siege. They scathingly criticized a Government policy of allowing the people to hear only opinions favorable to Germany.

"We can beat the fresh breath of criticism," said Dr. Stresemann. "That things are not going well with us, and that England's blockade is effective is known abroad. It is needless to hide anything. The Government ought to send broadcast the news not in highly colored phrases that everything is going well, but that much is going ill, and that therefore it is our duty to assume every burden created by the situation."

Close Tauton Union
The Vossische Zeitung, a copy of which has been received here, says that the negotiations for a fiscal and economic alliance between Germany, Austria and Hungary, which were begun in Berlin last July and in Vienna in November are being continued this week at Dresden. The chief Hungarian representative, the newspaper adds, says there are sharp differences of opinion between the theorists and practical politicians but that a definite agreement will be reached soon.

Heavy Demand for Iron
At a meeting of the Pig Iron Syndicate, reports were received showing that the new year was beginning with very active business everywhere in Germany. There is a strong demand for hematite, iron, steel and spiegel iron. Blast-furnaces and foundries working to capacity. Shipments of iron are satisfactory. The demand from allied and neutral countries is increasing and a large amount of business is being transacted at satisfactory prices.

The German Oriental Company, which has close relations with the Government, has been organized here with the purpose of importing textile raw materials from the Orient and regulating trade in them. The company has a capital of 2,000,000 marks, which has been supplied by the leading German banks.

matter of right and not asked as a matter of favor of all our citizens. In a free democracy the nation has a right to the service of its citizens both in war and in peace.

FOR THE AID OF THE FRENCH WOUNDED

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the window of Bass' drug store may be seen samples of work being done in Portsmouth in aid of the French wounded. The work is being done in connection with the American Fund for French Wounded, in Boston, from whom all supplies are bought and to whom the finished articles are returned for shipment to France.

The local committee has already shipped 751 packages of surgical supplies, each package containing 10 sponges, 5 pairs of flannel pajamas, 35 bed pads, over 300 bandages and a number of knitted articles. The bed pads were originated by a Canadian woman who sent some to France and they were so much appreciated that more were requested. They are made of four sheets of newspaper, absorbent cotton and gauze, and are used in the small hospitals where band linen is scarce and cannot be changed often. The pads are used under wounds and then burned. The fracture pillows are made of travellings and pieces left from the different materials which are flably cut up and stuffed into the pillows—an example of "efficiency" and of nothing wasted. The knitted sponges are used where hospital supplies are scarce and the sponges hard to get. Then the knitted sponges are used again.

The county commissioners very kindly loaned the solicitor's room at the court house for this work and the meetings are held there every Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. A large attendance means more work accomplished and it is hoped that anyone interested will join the workers. Money contributions will also be gladly received for the materials are used up rapidly and new supplies are constantly bought.

The committee wants Portsmouth to continue its good work for the benefit of the poor soldiers who are suffering in this awful war.

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

Big Comedy Success Delighting Crowded Houses at the Cosy Wilbur Theatre, Boston

Plays that promote laughter are more in demand than the sombre sort and of the former there is not in the amusement field today a more pronounced hit than "It Pays to Advertise," a farce in three acts, produced by Cohan and Harris at the Wilbur Theatre for the second week, including Monday, January 21.

"It Pays to Advertise" is a business play and therefore appeals strongly to men, but the plot is also complete enough to win enthusiasm from the feminine portion of an audience. The farce is from the pens of Iol Cooper Meguire and Walter Hackett, who have brought fourth one of the most laughable plays presented in recent years.

It is a play about a man's son who has been the despair of his father because of his disinclination to go to work. He is persuaded through love for his father's pretty stenographer, to go into business after his father has disinherited him. Rodney's father is a soap making and the son decided to go into the same business and adopts a strenuous advertising campaign to attract attention to buyers. Father doesn't believe in advertising and tries to dissuade his son, the only result being to make the boy plunge more heavily into the advertising game.

This, in brief is the story of the play, the complete plot of which it would be quite impossible to give in a way that would adequately express its intensely humorous situations and laugh compelling moments.

It is sufficient to say that the young man wins his point and the girl of his choice and that his father is brought to believe that it does pay to advertise.

"It Pays to Advertise" is one of those plays that can't be told about in cold type. It must be seen to be appreciated. It is produced by the year run in New York and another of six months duration in Chicago. It is presented at the Wilbur Theatre by the original company.

Taxation, Not Confiscation.

The bill of Senator Kenyon of Iowa providing for what would be no less than robbery in the form of taxation may be pleasing to those who believe the government has a right to rob the rich because they are rich. The class of those who hold this belief has been increasing of late years, as certain income tax schemes attest, but it is not to be believed that the average man is prepared to endorse extortion from any class of citizens or former citizens in the name of taxation.

Senator Kenyon proposes a high graduated income tax on the incomes of wealthy expatriates derived from property in this country. His plan would compel the wealthier men who have become citizens of other countries to pay a tax of about 30 per cent. on incomes derived from their American holdings, while the dowry of American girls who marry titled foreigners would also be very heavily taxed. Under the present scale William Waldorf Astor, formerly of New York, now Lord Astor of England, pays an income tax of 7 per cent., while if Mr. Kenyon's bill were to become law the rate would be nearly 30 per cent.

There is no use in beating about the bush or mincing matters in such a case as this. Such a scheme of alleged taxation would be nothing short of confiscation. The American people should not be prepared for such a step, and it is not to be believed that they are. They have no admiration for the wealthy who transfer their citizenship to foreign countries, there to enjoy titles, if these can be obtained, and the pleasures and honors, if honors they can be called, of royalty. But the right to do this is not to be questioned, and the fact that it is occasionally done gives the government no moral right to seize upon their possessions here and lug them off under the guise of taxation.

There is a feeling on the part of many that all graduated scales of taxation are wrong. These people believe that if all property were equally taxed the needs of the government would be properly provided for. They would have the rich taxed in accordance with their possessions, and not let off with scaled rates because the aggregate sums paid by them are large, and they would devise means to effectually prevent the concealment of taxable property.

This would be fair and just to all classes. Poor people and people of moderate means do not ask that the rich be compelled to pay their taxes. All they ask is that they should pay their own. This they should be made to do in full, and nothing further should be demanded.

A prominent eastern newspaper is carrying at the head of its editorial columns these words of George Washington: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace. A free people out not only to be armed, but disciplined, to which end a uniform and well digested plan is requisite." The question of expense aside, the American people could easily be armed. But when it comes to discipline, that is something they don't take as kindly as they might. Their antipathy to it is shown at a very early age, and it is a trait that the majority fails to outgrow.

The address of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt delivered in Philadelphia on Thursday is one that every American citizen should read and then think it over. It shows that the Colonel appreciates that this country should deal fairly with all nations, but it should not show the yellow streak. He knows as well as any citizen in this country just what confronts the American people today, and he tells them in very plain words. His address will prove popular and shows that his sympathies are clearly and honestly with the great mass of the people.

Mexico continues to hold its place in the limelight, but such prominence as comes for the slaughter of American citizens is liable to prove costly. President Carranza is now in a position to show his hand, and failure or inability to rise to the occasion will be for him a serious matter.

A student of the University of Pennsylvania has been killed in what is known at the institution as the "bowl fight," and several others were injured more or less seriously. It would appear that the "bowl fight" is entitled to classification under the head of dangerous sports.

It is reported from New York that grip has made its appearance among the horses of that city. This brings to mind the epizootic epidemic of some forty years ago, which wrought such havoc in New York that some of the street cars were moved with oxen.

In view of the possibilities in connection with Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Barnes of Albany will not be a delegate to the Republican national convention. But he will be in Chicago at the time the gathering is held, "as a member of the national committee."

SLEEPER GETS THE MAINE POLITICAL PLUM

Appointed Collector of Maine After Spirited Fight—A Native of N. H.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Dr. Charles M. Sleeper of South Berwick, Me., a member of the governor's council of that state, was today recommended to President Wilson by Senator Charles F. Johnson for appointment as collector of customs for the district of Maine.

This settles a long contest waged within the ranks of the One Tree State Democracy. The Maine collectorship is the biggest federal plum in the state, and pays an annual salary of $6000. For several months there has been a rivalry between Dr. Sleeper and Sheriff William M. Pennell of Brunswick for this office. Both candidates had strong support from members of the party. At one time it was thought here that Sheriff Pennell, who has been a strong leader of the Democratic party in Western Maine, was sure of the office, and to many the appointment of Dr. Sleeper will come as a surprise.

Dr. Sleeper in 1911 was a candidate for a nomination for Congress against John Clark Scott, having the support of York county, where he lived. Mr. Scott, who lives in Cumberland county, was supported by Sheriff Pennell, and won the nomination but was defeated at the polls by Representative Agnew C. Hinds.

Dr. Sleeper will succeed Judge William T. Emmons of Saco, who was appointed to the office by President Taft four years ago.

Dr. Sleeper is a native of Lakeport, N. H., and will be sixty years old on June 20. When he was twelve years old his mother was left a widow with seven children. He went to work as a bobbin boy in a cotton mill to help support the family and at 20 he was an overman. At 26 he graduated from Bowdoin medical school, having secured his preparation in Franklin, N. H., Academy. He has practiced medicine in South Berwick ever since his graduation from medical school.

Besides his medical activities, Dr. Sleeper has been active in the fraternal world. He is a member of all the Masonic bodies and past master of the Grand R. A. Chapter of Maine. He is also a member of the New England Order of Protection.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Jan. 21.—"The question of wages has more to do with the question of criminality than almost anything else," declared Edward T. Hartman, chairman of the Boston Civic League speaking before the New England Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs. "We are conducting schools for crimes that are the most successful schools under our administration," he continued. He attacked the present prison system, capital punishment, the newspapers, preparedness and various prominent men. He scored the present prison system in Massachusetts as behind the times and a failure, because it does not reformat the prisoners. "Last year 163 were committed to the state prison," said he, "of whom 61 had been committed before. The Concord reformatory had 441 commitments, of whom 29 per cent were previous offenders. The reformatory for women had 258 commitments, of whom 39 per cent were repeat offenders. In the entire state last year there were 28,820 commitments, of which 67 per cent were persons who had previously been imprisoned on an average of six and one-fourth times each."

That prices of leather are rapidly rising and that a corresponding increase in the cost of shoes may be expected was the statement made by retailing president John S. Kent of the New England Shoe and Leather Association at the annual luncheon "feasts of cost in the manufacture of shoes have greatly increased," he said, "and it is not unreasonable to assert

A Word to Retailers.

This is the age of standardization. Products of quality are sold under brands and as they are made in large quantities they are sold at low prices. People prefer them because they are standards of value. When these brands are newspaper advertised a demand is created among your possible customers. It is good business to attract the newspaper readers to your store. This you can do by showing the goods in your window at the time they are being advertised in the newspaper.

CURRENT OPINION

Social Insurance deals with the wage earner. It covers many of the most important risks of his life which he has no control over and which affect society at large as much as the individual. It is for this reason that we believe it to be to the benefit of the state government to inaugurate a system of social insurance.

This insurance should cover old age pensions. Society would find its wage earners more conscientious and better contented in their work if they felt that a reward for good work was to be provided for old age.

A form of social insurance which has been unheard of in this country, but which has been working out successfully in some places in Europe, and which should be included in the American system, is motherhood insurance. This provides for an expense which drives many women of the poorer classes to seek charity under the present conditions.

Such insurance would assist these women over the period when their health is of primal importance to the commonwealth as well as to themselves and their own families.—By Rufus M. Potts, Superintendent of Insurance in Illinois.

that manufacturers will soon have to allow 50 cents a pair more to cover cost of producing a pair of shoes over the price of April, 1915.

A relic of revolutionary times in the form of a coffee urn which was used in the famous old Green Dragon Tavern, has recently been presented to the Bostonian Society by Mrs. Phoebe C. Bradford, and may now be seen in the old state house. The urn is shaped like a covered bowl and rests on a square base and is well preserved. Inside, still hangs the iron bar which was heated red hot and then put into the liquid to warm it. But coffee was not the only thing it brewed. That noted only New England drink, "fig," composed of ale, beer, cider, spices and sweetening—often flavored from its spigot. The Green Dragon Tavern, which stood on Union street from 1697 to 1832, was its first home. The tavern was the headquarters in Boston of the Masonic order, and it was here that loyal patriots gathered to discuss the high handedness of England.

The National Automobile Association and the Automobile Local Association are about to purchase land where auto owners contest their rights to see if they meet the requirements of the new law. Failure by practically all automobile owners to understand the law has made such a proposition necessary. The Highway Commission has served notice that "auto owners must not expect that they will have a guardian to show them the laws, and that they will have scanty consideration if they do not drive with legal lights."

AUSTRIANS HAVE RENEWED ATTACK

Start a Savage Offensive Against the Montenegro Forces Along Cetinji Line.

Paris, Jan. 21.—Austrian troops in Montenegro have resumed their savage offensive against Montenegro, says the Geneva correspondent of the Temps. General Kovecs's army is advancing on the line of Cetinje and Podgoritz, while another attack is moving south along the Adriatic coast toward Antivari. Austrian forces in northern Albania are concentrated for an attack against Scutari. The allied troops will help the Serbs and Montenegrins, is the belief expressed by French military experts, in the defense of Scutari.

WILL SUE NATIONAL BANKS

That Charge Usurious Interest on All Loans.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Suits to forfeit the charter of national banks which are charging usurious interest rates may be brought by the Comptroller of the Currency. Mr. Williams told the House rules committee that his office is considering the advisability of bringing such suits against certain national banks which are charging an average rate of forty per cent or more on all loans. The Comptroller supported the resolution of Representative Powers authorizing an investigation of national bank interest rates.

THREE COMPANIES CONTROL WATER

National Report That Water Power is Held by Comparatively Few.

Washington, Jan. 20.—In a report submitted to the senate today in response to a resolution passed by the last congress, Secretary of Agriculture Houston announced that a huge water power trust controls practically all of the hydro electric facilities of the country.

This report shows the control in the various states where water power has been developed. The report shows that in New England three manufacturing concerns, the Berlin Mills Co., the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co., and the International Paper Co., have 64 per cent of the developed water power and 48 per cent of the total power.

Fourteen companies, both manufacturing and public service, controls 88.1 per cent of the water power and 89.9 per cent of the total power. Two municipalities have 0.6 per cent of the water power and 0.8 per cent of the total power.

SHOW NEEDS OF COUNTRY'S PREPAREDNESS

Security League Congress Hears National Speakers on the Subject.

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Jan. 21.—All angles of the problem of preparing the nation against war occupied the attention of the Security League Congress today. National speakers took up parts to be played and the need of development of not only the military and naval establishment but the merchant marine and the waterways of the country, also the Red Cross. Miss Mabel Nordman, active head of the Red Cross, told congress that the medical corps of no country had been able to care for the wounded in the present war, and that the Red Cross would supply valuable aid in the time of need, especially with the specially prepared surgeons and nurses. She said that there are thousands of industrial workers who have been trained in the care and first aid measures who could be utilized if they were needed.

Representative Murray Hulbert of New York said that Germany in the present war was amply demonstrating that waterways are a valuable asset in the defense of any nation and it was no longer an untried theory, yet the United States, the home of the inventor of steam-propelled vessels, had taken less advantage of its waterways than any other nation.

Rear Admiral Coby M. Chester, U. S. N., retired, reading the address of Henry Woodhouse of the Aero Club of America, declared that the appropriation recommended for the army and navy are absurd and even the expenditure along this line of $25,000,000 would place the United States fifth in his angle of defense.

MORE ATTACHMENTS MADE BY CREDITORS

Nine in All so Far Against R. B. Phillips Company.

Three more attachments have been placed on the property of the R. B. Phillips Manufacturing Company at Freeman's Point. The first is in favor of the Consolidation Coal Company for the sum of $700; the second is that of C. A. Butler for $150, and the third, comes from Chadwick and Trefethen, for a small amount. The first two were served by Deputy Sheriff W. D. Shaw on Thursday and the last named was executed today.

SUPERIOR COURT COMING HERE

The juryman were excused by Judge John Kivel in superior court at Exeter on Thursday until Monday morning when they will report in this city for the hearing of more cases.

This is rather an unusual proceeding in the January term, but as there are important cases to be heard in this city where the witnesses and counsel live, Judge Kivel has granted a session here. It is likely that the Hobbs kidnapping case will be heard here.

Thursday morning court cases were heard by Judge Kivel, but it appears that as far as Exeter is concerned the January term is about through there.

CLEVER CANINE WRITES NAME WITH CHALK

When a dog can be taught to write his name on a black board with chalk, as Spot did last evening at the Colonial Theatre, it will have to be admitted that some dogs at least, have brains. At any rate, Spot did this to the vast amusement of a big audience, many of them doubting that it could be accomplished. This isn't all he did. In his act with Louis Kern he did several other tricks which caused the audience to wonder how they were done. Spot is without exception the most wonderful little dog that has appeared on the local boards and the act as presented by Mr. Kern and includes some clever tricks by another little dog, Topsy, is one of the best vaudeville numbers that the management has secured for some months.

The bill offered last evening included a fine novelty musical act presented by the Hollanders, Mr. Hollander, among his other work, succeeded in playing at one time, three string instruments, a violin, cello, and mandolin, a stunt that doesn't sound reasonable, but he did it last evening and will present it as part of his regular act during his stay here.

Woolsey and Maher, a gentleman and lady, presented a singing and dancing act which was clever and was appreciated by the audience. The entire bill is one of unusual strength, measuring up to the "quality" standard set by the present management.

TO CLOSE ORPHANAGE

Dover, N. H., Jan. 20.—St. Mary's Catholic Orphanage, founded here by the late Mr. Daniel W. Murphy, 22 years ago, will close its doors tomorrow. Rev. John J. Bradley, pastor of St. Mary's church stated today. The Sisters of Mercy in charge will enter the "Mother House" at Manchester. During the past few years, Father Bradley stated the conditions for caring for orphan children have undergone changes which reduced the number of children maintained here to six, while in former years thirty or more were cared for. These children have been transferred to St. Patrick's Orphanage for Girls at Manchester.

SCHOOL KIDDIES, ATTENTION!
If you want to learn how to do arithmetic you want to see Spot, the wonderful dog at the Colonial Theatre tonight. He adds numbers you give him and he writes his own name.

Mrs. Caroline C. Smith of Troy, N. Y., who arrived on Thursday to visit Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wasson at Kittery Point, left on Friday for Portland, Me., where she will undergo a surgical operation.

Our citizens will regret to learn that Mr. E. L. Palmer and wife will remove in the Spring to Lennox, Mass., where Mr. Palmer has purchased a magnificent estate. The property is one of the best known in Lennox, formerly owned by one of the Morgan family. He will engage extensively in the wholesale manufacture of candy, having a large factory in Pittsfield. He will also conduct the large chain of stores that he now operates. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer have a host of friends in this city who will regret their leaving.

HERBERT CLARK ENTERTAINED WARWICK CLUB MEMBERS

When Herbert C. Clark took up the profession of a private entertainer, the stage lost a versatile character man. Mr. Clark presented the entertainment at the Warwick Club Smoker last evening and the members were all of the opinion that the committee could not have secured any better. The smoker was attended by a large number who were served a luncheon following the entertainment program. Mr. Clark presented several clever character impersonations and told many amusing stories in dialect, including the negro, Irish, Yiddish, British and others.

KING NICHOLAS RESUMES FIGHTING

All of the Peace Terms Offered by Austria are Rejected by Montenegro-Grecian King Laments Over Allied "Outrages"

London, Jan. 20.—Montenegro has resumed fighting. The Austrian terms of peace have been rejected in every particular. It has not been clear from the despatches whether Austria or Montenegro initiated the negotiations. At any rate the haste of the British and Italian press to charge King Nicholas with treachery does not seem justified by events. The incident, by whomsoever launched, may have been utilized by Nicholas to get a breathing spell for his army. However that may be, the Montenegrin premier has officially notified Italy that the fighting is on again. In a note presented to the Italian foreign office it was declared that Montenegro had rejected the terms offered by Austria and that hostilities had been resumed along the whole front, King Nicholas replying with his army to organize his country's defenses.

King Constantine of Greece in an interview, which the censor of the Allies held up for a week and released it together with a statement from an unknown "high authority," makes a loud and clear statement in which he now finds himself and his country. On three separate occasions Constantine, who is the brother-in-law of the Kaiser, thwarted the will of the people as expressed at the polls. Had he permitted Greece to act as the conscience of the country, the fate of Serbia and Montenegro would still have been self-evident; indeed, it is not unlikely that Roumania and Bulgaria would have been found fighting on the side of the Allies. But Constantine deliberately violated the Greek constitution, threw over his written agreements with Serbia, broke the promises of responsible Government and now he cries over the fact that the Allies have taken the bit from his teeth and perhaps are forcing Greece to a fulfillment of her expressed obligations. So Constantine makes a protest through the press of the United States, which, he said, was the only forum of public opinion open to him against the recent action of the Allies in their operations at Salonica in blowing up the bridge at Demir Hissar and in occupying Corfu and other islands which Greece claims. He said the idea of military necessity advanced by the allies was like that given by Germany for invading Belgium and Luxembourg. It is the mere cant, the King declared, for Great Britain and France to talk about the violation of the neutrality of Belgium and Luxembourg in view of what they had done and are doing themselves. King Constantine said he believed that it would be very difficult if not impossible to conquer Germany in a military war, if economic exhaustion did not force her to sue for peace. He expressed finally the opinion that the war would end in a draw. "High authority," in reply to the King's statements, denies any parallel between the German invasion of Belgium and Luxembourg and contends that the temporary use of certain points in Greece does not constitute an occupation, properly speaking, particularly as use of them was made for the most part with the tacit consent of Greece. During the recent months, also, he added, the Greek Government permitted Germans and Austrians to violate its neutrality by using the Greek coasts and islands as a base for provisioning their submarines. There has been a paucity of direct news from Athens and other points in Greece during the past few days, but there have been numerous reports from German sources of further aggressive action on the part of the Entente Allies toward King Constantine's government.

Repulse Austrian Attacks
Rome, via London, Jan. 20.—The following official communication was issued:
"In the Chisna valley Monday afternoon the enemy's artillery caused a fire at Cimago, which was quickly extinguished. As a reprisal one of our batteries bombarded Siroda, which was occupied by the enemy. In the Soguna valley replying to the enemy fire on Berge, we bombarded the Cudone railway station.
"In the Tolmino section the night of the 18th, an enemy detachment attempted an attack on one of our trenches on the heights of Santa Maria. The attack was repulsed and the enemy left thirty bodies on the field.
"The same night in the zone between Hill 158 and Colavina, the enemy tried to approach our positions, but our troops, undecieved by the ruse of false cries, succeeded in promptly repulsing the attempt.

"The situation on the Carso front is unchanged."
Russian Blow in Caucasus
Petrograd, Jan. 20.—The War Office gave out the following:
"By our furious and unexpected attack on their centre, the Turkish army was disorganized and dislodged from a strong position over a front of more than a hundred versts, (65 miles) extending from the region of Lake Tortum to the region on Chantlanchi River north of Melaghet and fell back in the direction of the fortified plain of Erzerum. At many places this retreat assumed the character of a panic flight. Several Turkish units were almost annihilated; hundreds of bodies floated the route of our offensive.
"At many points our troops had to advance on heights above the clouds, cutting trenches in the deep snow during heavy snowstorms. We occupied the village of Koprakeui, on the Aras, fifty versts (33 miles) east of Erzerum. In the course of the fighting on the 17th, we took prisoner 5 officers and 205 men and captured much material, including machine guns and caissons. We seized a Turkish ammunition depot at the village of Taurmel, in the Chantlanchi district.
"Persian campaign. Southwest of Lake Urmiah there have been engagements with Kurds, who were repulsed southward."

Planes Active in West
London, Jan. 20.—The following report was made public by the French War Office this afternoon: "Between the Oise and the Aisne there were clashes between patrols last night in the region of Palsaleire.
"In the Champagne our artillery dispersed a supply train on the road between Ville-sur-Tourbe and Verdun.
"A hostile aeroplane dropped three bombs on the outskirts of Lunerville. None of them caused any damage. Another aeroplane of the enemy was brought to the ground near Pils. The two officers on board the aeroplane were captured near Ogville, southwest of Lunerville."
The British official communication issued last night says:
"On Monday sixteen of our aeroplanes attacked an enemy supply depot at Le Sars, northeast of Albert, causing considerable damage. During the day there were numerous air encounters in which five of the enemy machines were driven down and two of our aeroplanes were lost.
"Tuesday afternoon the enemy exploded two mines south of Pricourt, doing light damage.
"Today we successfully bombarded hostile trenches at several points. At dusk a party of our troops raided enemy trenches north of the River Lys and brought back several prisoners. The enemy exploded a mine near the Hohenzollern redoubt, and another in front of our trenches southeast of Cudney (near La Bassée). No damage was done. Hostile artillery has been active northwest of Fromelles and east of Ypres.
"A hostile aeroplane was brought down near Prolinghen by our fire."
French Artillery Busy
The following official communication was issued by the French War Office last night:
"South of the Somme in the section of Libons an enemy blockhouse was destroyed by our fire.
"Between Soissons and Rheims our trench guns caused serious damage to the enemy works in the region of Allies, west of Craonne.
"In the Argonne we cannonaded moving troops in the region north of Les Courtes Chaussees.
"In Lorraine a fire carried out against a group of houses occupied by the Germans near Allencourt, west of Ypres."

NO "FRILLS"
Just a Statement About Food
Sometimes a good, healthy commercial traveler suffers from poorly selected food and is lucky if he learns that Grape-Nuts food will put him right.
A Cincinnati traveler writes: "About a year ago my stomach got in a bad way. I had a headache most of the time and suffered miserably. For several months I ran down until I lost about 70 pounds in weight and finally had to give up a good position and go home. Any food that I might use seemed to nauseate me.
"My wife, hardly knowing what to do, one day brought home a package of Grape-Nuts food and coaxed me to try it. I told her it was no use, but finally to humor her I tried a little and they just struck my taste. It was the first food that I had eaten in almost a year that did not cause any suffering.
"Well, to make a long story short, I began to improve and stuck to Grape-Nuts. I went up from 135 pounds in December to 194 pounds the following October.
"My brain is clear, blood all right and appetite too much for any man's pocketbook. In fact, I am thoroughly made over and owe it all to Grape-Nuts. I talk so much about what Grape-Nuts will do that some of the men on the road have nicknamed me 'Grape-Nuts,' but I stand today a healthy, rosy-cheeked man—a pretty good example of what the right kind of food will do."

"You can publish this if you want to. It is a true statement without any frills."

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a Glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

If you must have food every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, shifting pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.
To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jaid Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then get clean. This famous salt is made from the field of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.
Jaid Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Chateau Salins, has given the best results.
"In the night of Jan. 18-19, two German aeroplanes having dropped four bombs on Nancy, one of our squadrons immediately took the air and bombarded the railway stations at Metz and Arnaville. Twenty-two shells were dropped on the buildings, which suffered some damage."
Fight in Riga Region
Petrograd, Jan. 20.—The official communication issued read as follows:
"On the Riga-Dvinsk front there have been frequent flights of German aeroplanes who were observed in the region of the lower course of the river An, Coupland, near Skutet, west of Friedrichstadt and over Dvinsk where the Germans dropped many bombs.
"A German attempt to land on the bank of the Dvina facing Lennawad, below Friedrichstadt, was repulsed by our fire. Southeast of Friedrichstadt our Summa, the Germans liberated asphyxiating gas against us.
"After an active artillery fire in the region of Tennengeld, the Germans opened two attacks but both were repulsed."

PREPAREDNESS AT DARTMOUTH
Mass Meeting and a Big Response for Military Company.

Hanover, Jan. 20.—A preparedness mass meeting was held tonight in Dartmouth hall for the purpose of organizing a battalion in preparation for the active drill work which will begin immediately after the mid-year examinations.
Although the college authorities have found it impossible to establish a course in military science in the curriculum next semester, the student preparedness committee has taken the matter up on its own responsibility, and with 150 men who have had military training in preparatory school as a nucleus, it is making an effort to enlist more men and secure from the war department recognition as a senior branch of the reserve officers' training corps, after which recognition by the college authorities will probably be assured.
The principal object of the meeting was to explain in practical details of the plan, the time, the expense and the method of taking up the work. Prof. E. P. Emery presided.
The first speaker was Captain G. W. Stuart, U. S. A., who has been detailed by the state department as instructor of the New Hampshire National Guard, and who has voluntarily offered his services to direct the movement in Dartmouth until the appointment of a special officer by the war department. He explained the plan of conducting the course, which will consist of lectures on tactics, technical discussions and practical drill work. Captain Stuart will personally conduct the work as far as his other duties will allow. In his absence the work will be conducted by student officers, whom he will appoint from the most experienced students in the battalion.
The other speakers were the Hon. Charles E. Carr, '75 of Andover, who is president of the New Hampshire league for national defense, Dean Laycock and Dr. John M. Gile.

EXETER JURY AWARDS
$1,000 TO DERRY GIRL
Louise Livingston, the 15-year old Derry girl, who brought suit through her father, George E. Livingston, against Carl E. or Carleton E. Bulfinch of Hampstead, was awarded $1,000 by the Jury early Thursday morning at Exeter after the panel had remained out all night.

The case was an alleged trespass to person or assault action, the plaintiff charging that it was committed on March 24, 1913, and various other occasions when the child was living with Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bulfinch at Hampstead. Bulfinch, the defendant, being at the time employed as foreman of the Huttman farm.

BOWLING

Little Bowery Defeats Knickerbockers
At the Arcade Alleys last evening the Little Bowery A. C. took four points in a bowling match from the Knickerbockers, winning the total pin fall by 25 pins. None of the strikers were walkers, the first being won by 6, the second by 2 and the last by 17.

For the Little Bowery team Linchey rolled 321, making 113 in his first string and dropping only to a 99 in his third, which was his lowest. Laughlin also rolled well for the winners, getting 107 in his third and making a total of 235. Jordan rolled 299 as high for the losers, getting 102 and 107 in his second and third strings, respectively. Quinn made 105 in his first but fell down badly in the last two strings. The summary:

Little Bowery A. C.
Crawley	86	82	59-266
Laughlin	94	94	107-296
Linchey	113	100	99-321

DRINK HOT WATER
IF YOU DESIRE A
ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better, and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of Limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.
A quarter pound of Limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and Limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the level pores do.

TO HEAR ACCIDENT CASES.
Public Service Commission Takes Up Three Cases.

Concord, Jan. 20.—The public service commission today gave hearings on fatal accidents on the Boston and Maine railroad. Commissioner Thomas W. D. Worthen presiding. The case of John Muslin or Deante, killed in the Concord railroad yard, took up the greater part of the time. Attorney John M. Stark appearing for the estate. He sought to show negligence on the part of the railroad. Frank J. Sulloway of Streeter, Diamond, Woodworth and Sulloway represented the railroad.
The evidence was that Muslin was one of a gang of shovellers shoveling coal into the tender of an engine, and that the train on which he was working started without warning. Muslin and the other jumped, Muslin landing in front of a passenger train entering the railroad station.
Other cases considered were the deaths of Dr. Henry C. Stearns in Woodville, William Pickard in Tilton and John K. Fellows in Sanbornville.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE YACHT CLUB SMOKER

PORTSMOUTH YACHTMEN AND GUESTS ENJOYED EVENING WHICH INCLUDED VARIOUS PROGRAM.

At the Yacht Club Smoker last evening the club members and their guests were entertained by a classy vaudeville show which followed a chowder supper excellently prepared and served under the direction of Peter Pecunias the club steward. In the earlier evening Lieutenant Hammer, U. S. N., assistant navy constructor, entertained the members with a talk, taking as his subject, "Funny Things I Saw in the Philippines." Mr. Hammer's talk was better than worth while, proving to be one of the most interesting lectures both from a humorous as well as instructive standpoint.

The evening opened with a pool tournament and this was followed by Lieutenant Hammer's talk. After the supper was served Lewis Kern and his dog Spot presented their act as it was played last evening at the Colonial Theatre. The clever little dog was given a great reception and so was his team mate, Topsy, by the audience. Mr. Woolsey of the team Woolsey and Maher, also appeared on the program and was well received. A piano solo by Alexander Billbruck and Hoot Howe together with a vocal solo by Mr. Billbruck concluded the regular program.

With Mr. Rowe presiding at the piano the usual good old quarter deck quartet appeared and assisted by the entire crew continued the musical festivities for some time. About every song that is popular today or had been popular at any time during the past thirty years was sung with a will that is seldom heard. It was a great night and the fun lasted until a late hour. The evening was in charge of this committee, Commodore Ashworth, Robert J. Boyd, Charlie Bailey and George Duck.

ARRESTED, CONVICTED AND FINED FOR THE IMPROPER
USE OF COMMUTATION TICKET

For use of the daily or frequent traveler between his home and place of business, the Boston and Maine Railroad issues a non-transferable sixty-day ticket limited to thirty days, and on account of the very low rate at which it is sold, its use is, by tariff, confined to the person whose name appears thereon.

There has been a growing practice in certain sections of irregularly renting and loaning tickets of this form, and upon the recent presentation of one of these tickets reading between Haverhill and Boston by a person other than the one in whose favor it was originally issued, the conductor took it up and arrested the holder upon arrival in Boston. The case came for trial on December 29th in the municipal court, and the defendant was convicted and fined $5.00.

Under existing state and federal laws a transportation company is charged with the strict enforcement of all tariff conditions, and it is held responsible for infractions, as is also the person receiving the benefit therefrom.

OF COURSE

Of course, if you do your own washing you imagine that we can't do the work so good—or that our methods are harder on the fabrics. This is not so. Our work is equal, if not better, than the domestic work; and, actually, our equipment is gentler on the articles than the scrub board method. All of our work is returned sterilized clean—and costs but a trifle.

At the North Church on Sunday evening at 7:30, Dr. Albert E. Denning, the well known editor, will speak on "The Beginnings of Christian Literature."

There were a great number from Dover, South Berwick and Work at the boxing match here on Thursday evening and they all got their money's worth.

See the beautiful dolls and have your fortunes told at the K. of C. fair, Freeman's hall, Jan. 24, 25, 26.

There has been a great revival of basketball here this winter and it has removed discussion of the top-notch teams that played in this city a dozen years ago.

The question asked today is not how the Cadillac compares with some other car—but how some other car compares with the Cadillac. There is a wealth of significance in this condition. The Cadillac is in very fact the standard of the world.

Join the crowd, who always have a good time. Dancing at the K. of C. fair, Freeman's hall, Jan. 24, 25, 26.

Another telegram from Margeson Bros.: "Our new line of luxurious upholstered furniture bought at Grand Rapids for the library, living room and den comprises beautiful adaptations of the period styles, designed by artists and constructed by master upholsterers. Good furniture is remembered long after the price is forgotten."

TO HOLD MUSTER AT PROVIDENCE

Horace W. Gray Elected a Vice President of the N. E. A. of V. F.

At the recent meeting of the New England Association of Veteran Firemen held in Boston, these officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—George Hunt of Providence, R. I.

First vice-president—John G. Stevens of Marblehead.

Second vice-president—Daniel W. Steel of Portland, Me.

Third vice-president—H. W. Gray of Portsmouth, N. H.

Fourth vice-president—Levi Whitcomb of Cranston, R. I.

Fifth vice-president—Henry J. Eaton of Hartford, Conn.

Secretary—Patrick Manning of Amesbury.

Treasurer—George A. Sanford of Chelsea.

It was decided to hold the coming New England league muster at Providence next summer and it is planned to make this the largest muster in the history of the association. Nothing will be left undone that will go toward making it a grand success.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Home of Refined Vaudeville. Safety and Quality First.

Best show in town!

Yes, that's what we've got, the best show in town. If you doubt our word, just take a stroll into the Colonial tonight after supper and behold for yourself. The Hollanders, a man and woman, made a tremendous hit last night with their scenic musical novelty, "Something Different. And then Woolsey and Maher, a man and woman, also came in for a large share of applause. They have a comedy skit entitled "The Blotout," which is a winner for fair. Spot, the educated quinine, had 'em all guessing last night how he could write and read their mind, and he'll keep you guessing too. A wonderful show.

For pictures we have another episode in the interesting "Slingaree" series entitled "The Purification of Mulford." This is by far one of the best yet. "Frenzied Finance," another amusing Poles and Jabs, Vini comedy. A story of their attempt to become stock brokers. This is a brain new picture just released today. The Holy Tribune No. 3 this week includes an explosion on a steamship at Brooklyn, N. Y., views of German field hospitals, a battle between a tiger and hyena, and other news items. And "The Tricksters," Klara Comedy.

Several from this city are going to Boston this evening to witness the Burns-Stecher wrestling match. This will be one of the fastest and most interesting matches held in Boston for years. Stecher is looked upon as the successor to Gotch and while he is expected to defeat Burns, it will be a great match.

Mrs. Attwood, wife of Rev. J. W. Attwood, attended the meeting of the New Hampshire Woman's Missionary Society held in Concord on Thursday.

That the coming town election in Greenland will be the most important in many years.

That the man who puts a pocket comb to use every time he passes a mirror, has nothing on the man who carries a toothbrush in his upper vest pocket.

That a certain young woman says she has not as yet run into "Jack the huggin'."

That she has really been looking for him, not that she wants a hug, but to show him something not really on the calendar.

That if Jack had her address, he might call and save her the trouble of doing patrol duty.

That the veteran firemen are to have a smoker on Wednesday evening next.

That the Gallinger-Silovey bills in the house and senate for a dry dock at Portsmouth should stand for consideration.

HER BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Maria A. Blaisdell Observes Event Surrounded By Her Children.

I WONDER

Who the mayor has in mind as his candidate for the public works board?

When the contracts for the new home for the enlisted men of the army and navy will be called for?

If the kid leading the horse on the ice pond has found out who said he dragged the horse overboard?

If all the stars in the Little Bowery A. C. will get an opportunity to get in the spotlight in the coming minstrel show?

If the groundhog turned over today?

Why the boys don't stop kidding the girls about that phantom party and come across with the goods?

When a boxing bout will be pulled off here that will satisfy all the fans?

Why the city don't get more money for circus perambles, the same as other cities?

When that long-talked-of police signal system will be installed?

If a few police officers to cover the several deserted beats at night are not needed more than a signal system at present.

If the new city sealer will get an office or a store room in the city hall this year?

Why the board of health don't take a peep at the police cell rooms as a matter of duty?

If the government will ever realize that it is poor policy to get a good crew of speakeasies working at the navy yard for a year or more and then lose the most of them by furloughs and discharges?

When the city will begin to save money by eliminating some of the several fire stations scattered about the city and give the department an up-to-date central station?

How many letters from the girls have already been addressed to the U. S. S. Tennessee at Haiti?

Where the report of licensed and unlicensed dogs is at present?

If the crew of the U. S. S. Southern at the navy yard are still anxious for a representation in the Sunset league?
